

2007 TARRICA WINE CELLARS PETITE SIRAH • Paso Robles

Deep ruby red. Rich and seductive with cola, cherry, nectarine and plum flavors enhanced with peppery spices and toasty oak notes. Full-bodied with round tannins and a lengthy finish.

FOOD RECOMMENDATIONS

This versatile wine will compliment a wide range of foods from grilled hamburgers, duck, fried chicken, rack of lamb as well as mushrooms and lentils.

Tarrica Wine Cellars aged this Paso Robles Petite Sirah in a combination of American and French Oak barrels for 18 months.

VINEYARDS

Our Petite Sirah grapes are grown in California, where the long cool summer allows the grapes to achieve full maturity while retaining natural acidity. This results in a well balanced and fruit forward wine.

Tarrica Wine Cellars is a small, family owned winery started in 2000 in the Paso Robles Wine Country. The focus of our winery is to produce value priced wines that are a clear expression of viticultural origin and varietal flavor.

The winery released its first bottled wine in April of 2003. Our wines are available at selected restaurants, markets, and wine shops located on California's Central Coast, and in the San Francisco Bay Area, Southern California, Nevada, Colorado, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Massachusetts, North Carolina and South Carolina, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana.

TECHNICAL NOTES

- 100% Paso Robles, Shell Creek Vineyards
- Harvested October 17th and 18th 2007
- Wine analysis
- Alcohol 14%
- Wine Acidity: 0.60g/100mL
- Wine pH 3.69

NOTES:

---

---

---

---

---